THE FOUR CARDINAL VIRTUES

We have chosen as this year's theme, the four cardinal virtues, Justice, Prudence, Temperance and Fortitude, and have aligned them with the four major divisions of this book. The "Cardinal" who strives for prudence in his studies, temperance in his dealings with his fellows, and shows fortitude in his athletic endeavors will surely receive justice from those who are responsible for him during his career at Lincoln High School.

Louise,
It has been a

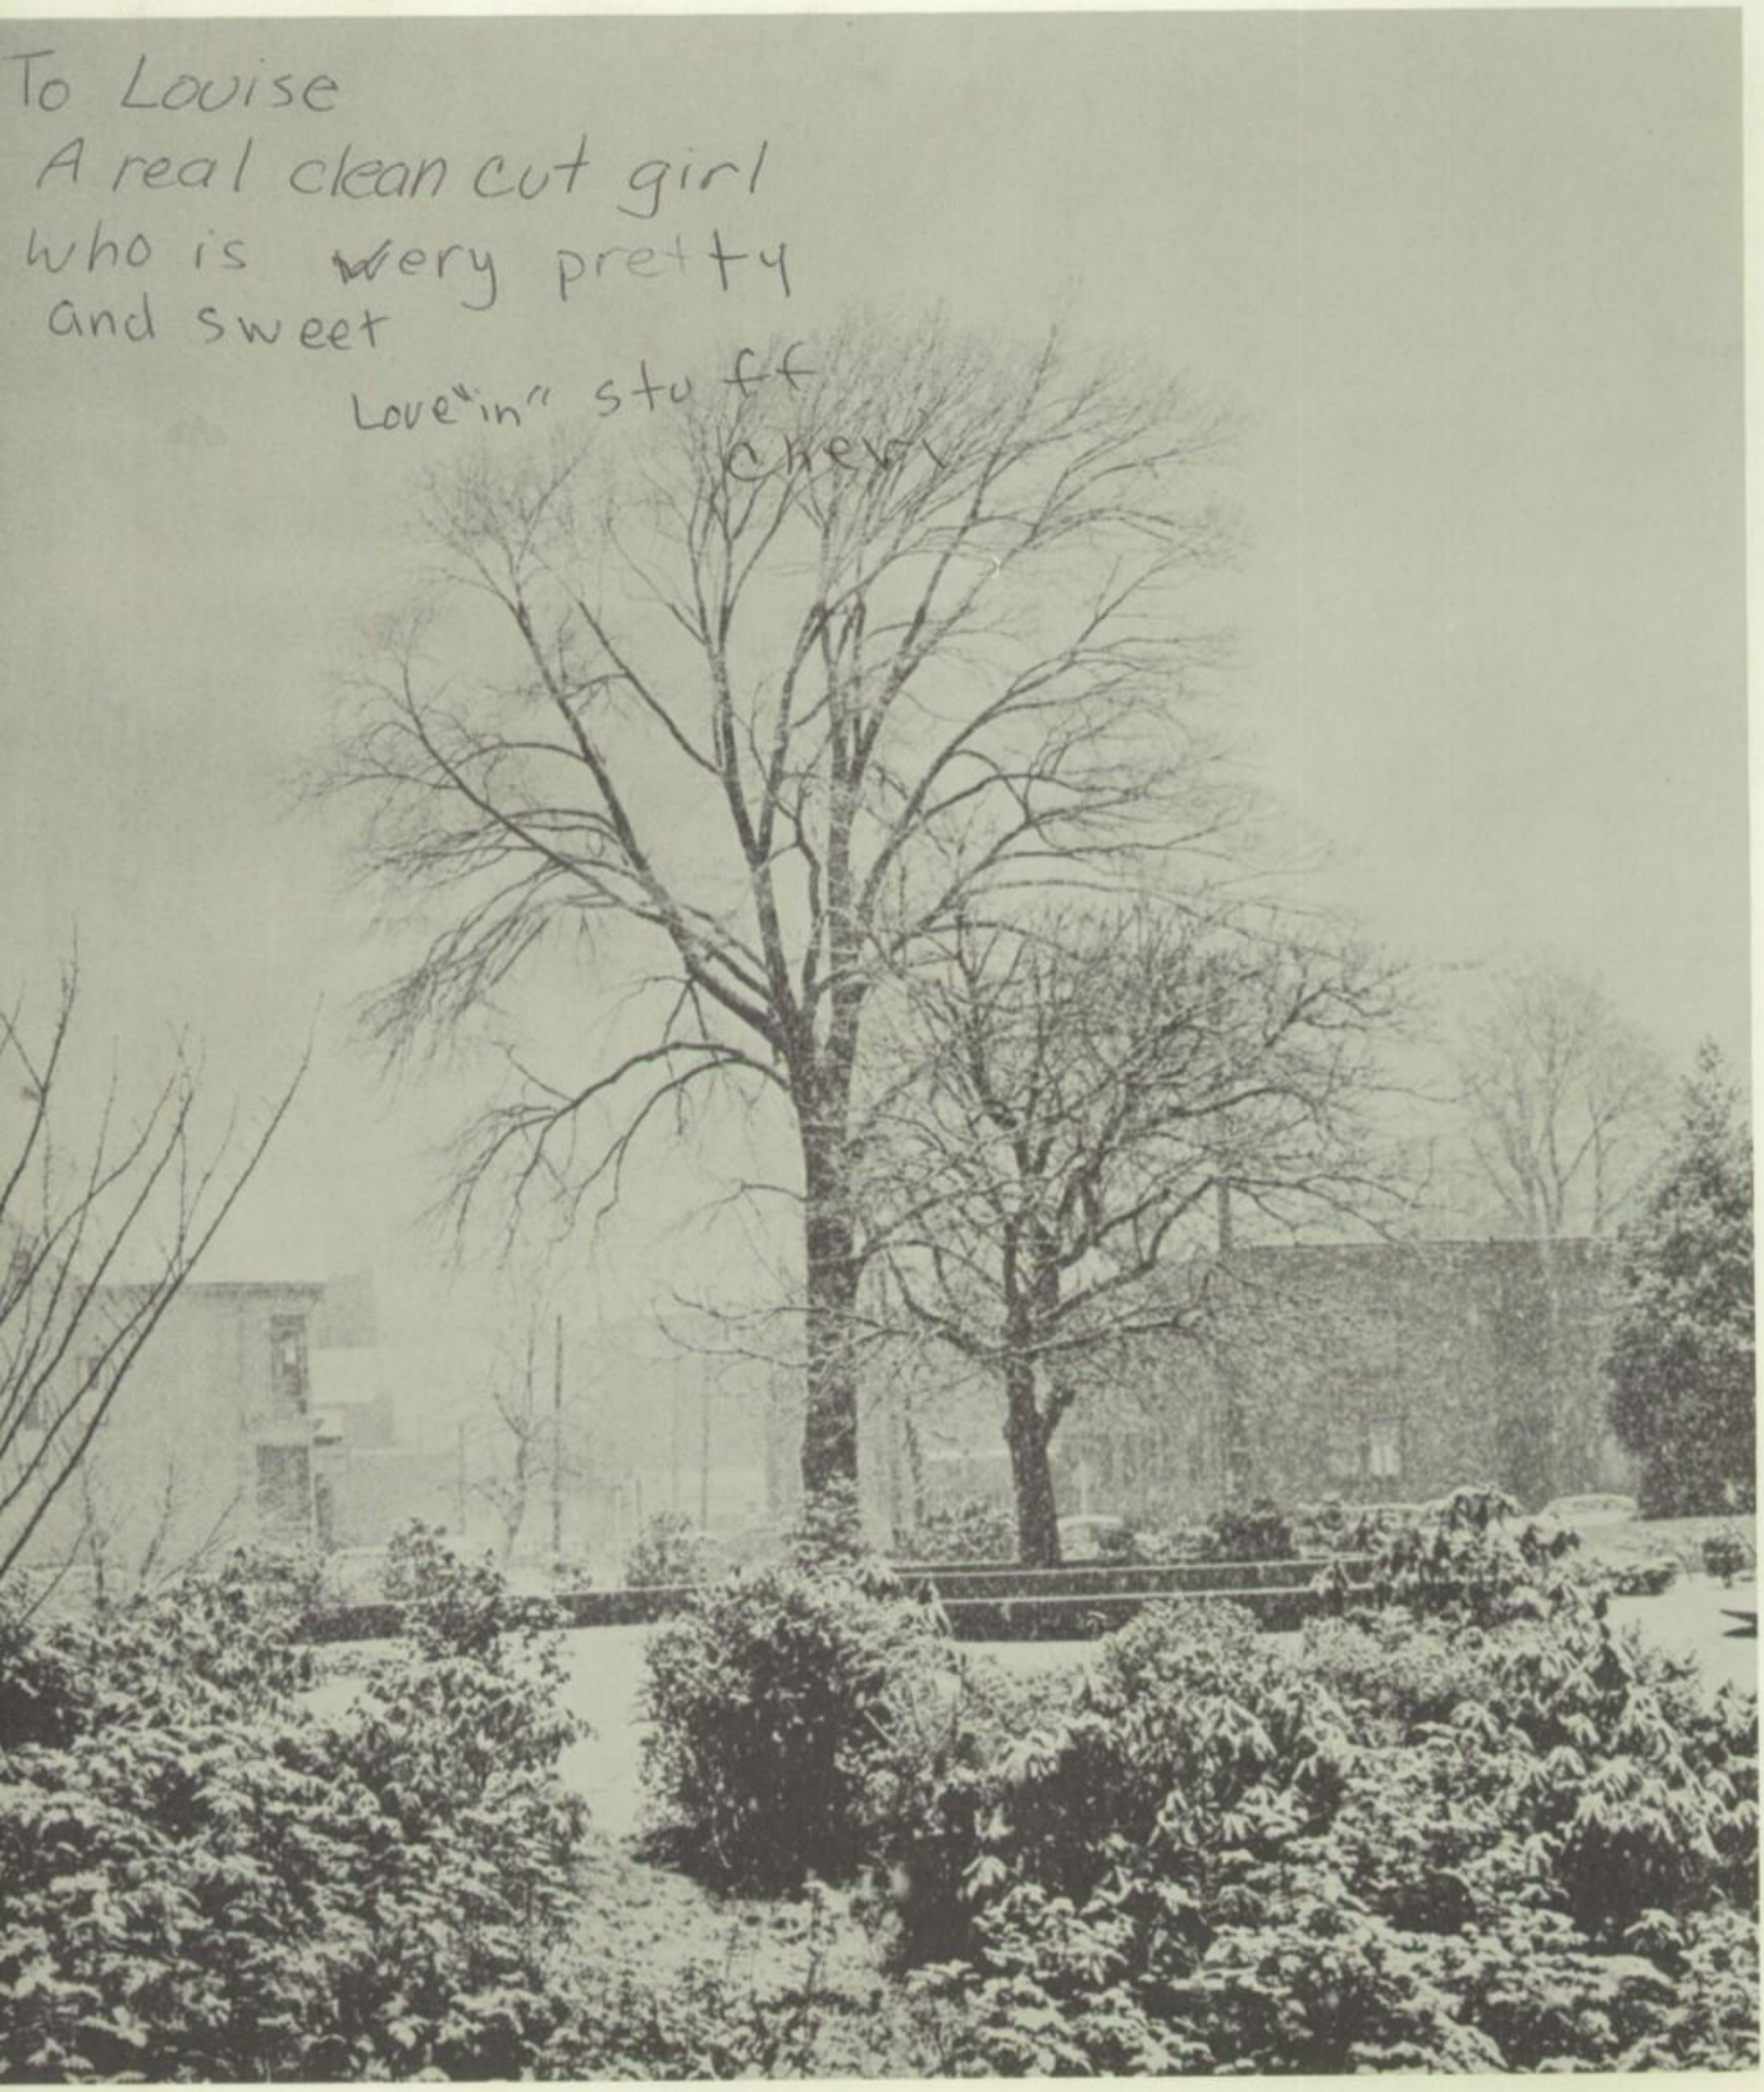
Principal Wills Ends Successful Career at Lincoln



WE DEDICATE . . .

Students and faculty learned with regret of Mr. Olin Wills's retirement after sixteen years as principal of Lincoln High School.

Born in Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, Mr. Wills received his elementary and secondary education there. He later attended Reed College where he earned his master of art's degree. Upon graduation, he was married and raised two children. His career in the teaching profession began in 1924 at Jefferson but later in the same year, he came to Lincoln as an instructor in math and science. In 1944 he took a position as vice-principal at Franklin, returning in two years to Lincoln to assume the position of principal.

For the past sixteen years, Mr. Olin Wills has served with authority and enthusiasm. He has initiated many Lincoln activities one of which is the annual Popcycles that has since become a tradition. The successful progress at Lincoln has been an example of his excellent leadership. No words can be as fitting as those expressed by his close friend and Lincoln teacher, Mrs. Mabel D. Southworth:

Mr. Wills is a man of unusual scholarship. Although his major interest is not in the field of English, he knows and appreciates the classics; and, better still, he has its highest regard for the spoken and written word."

"He is a man of high integrity, taking his obligation to his job, to the students and the taxpayers, to the school and his faculty with profound concern. The same concern he lavishes upon his family."

"His standards for himself, for his staff, and for Lincoln High School have always been very high. Olin Wills is a perfectionist."

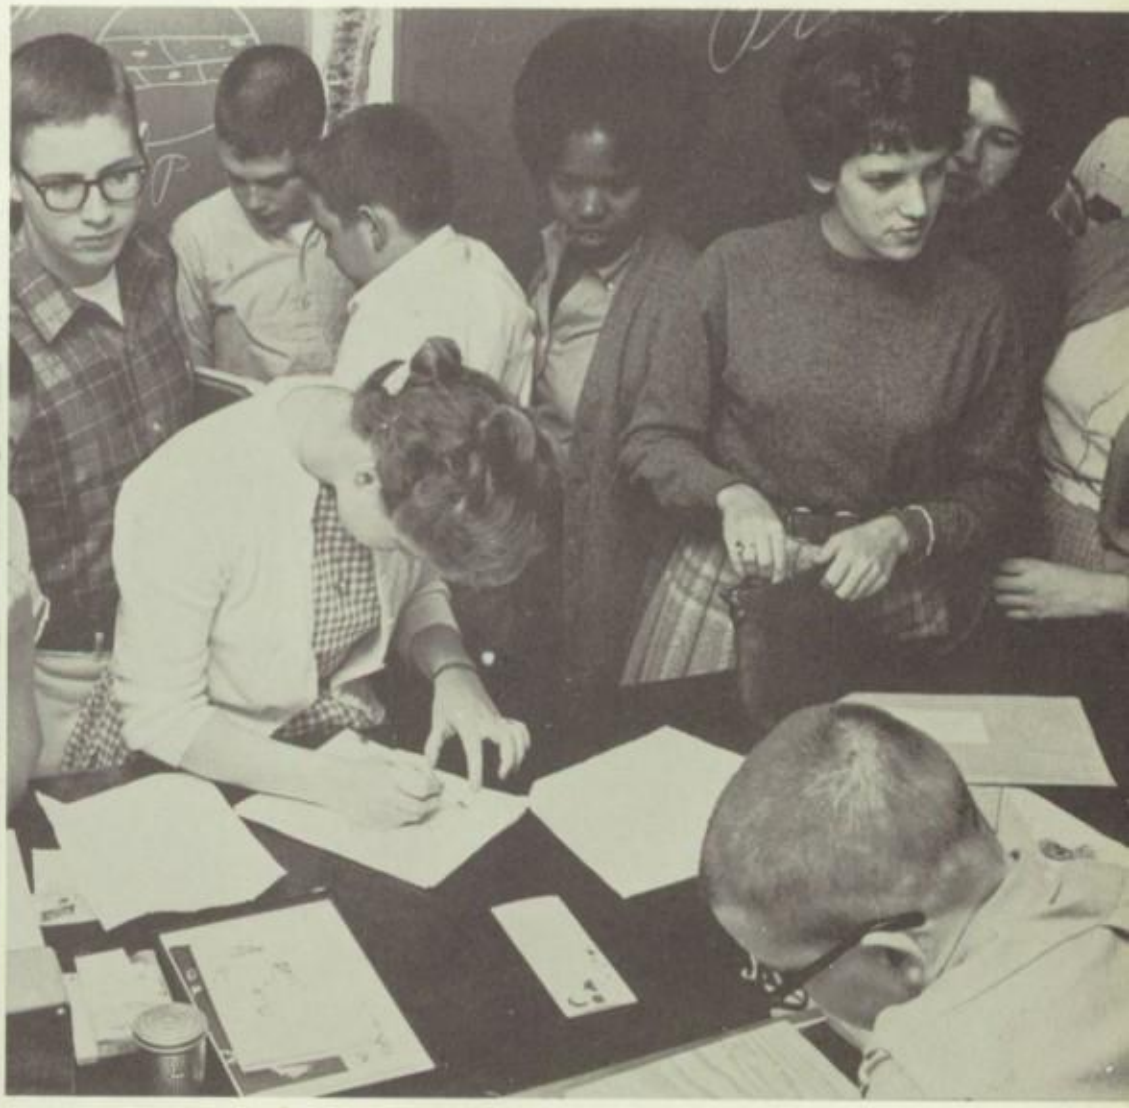
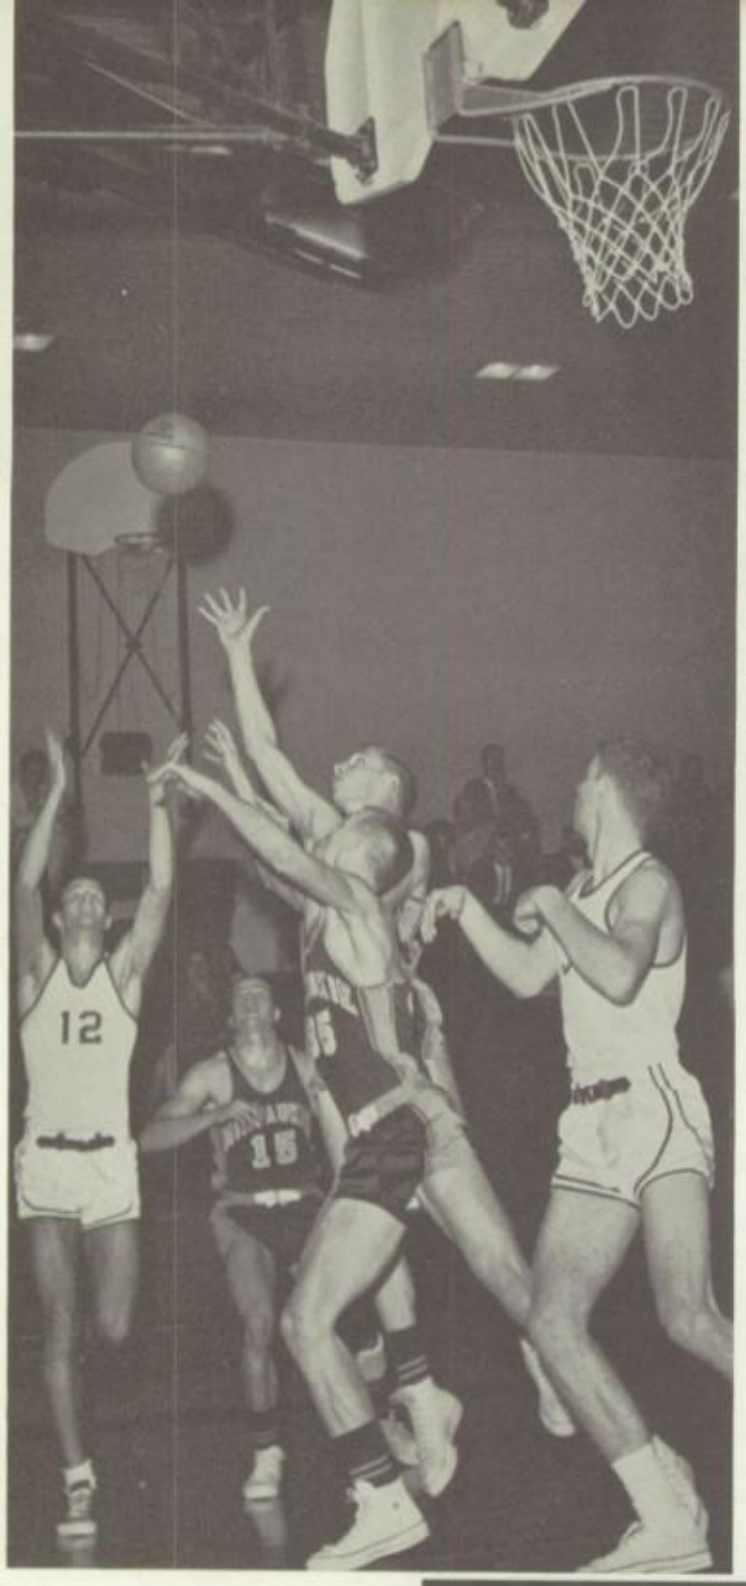
The "Cardinal" who strives for prudence in his studies, temperance in his dealings with his fellows, and shows fortitude in his athletic endeavors will surely receive justice from those who are responsible for him during his career at Lincoln High School.

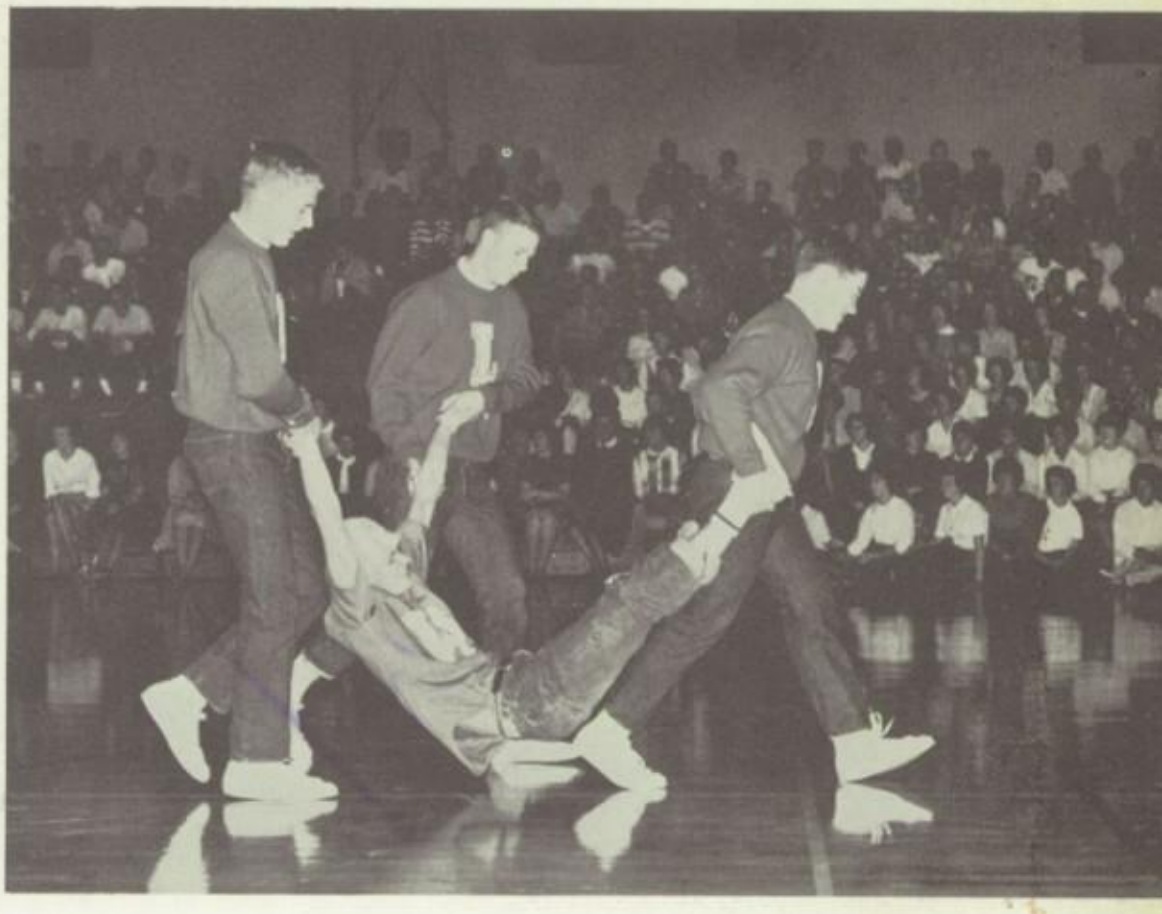
Lincoln students exhibited the Cardinal virtures in activities which kept them busy throughout the 1961-1962 school year. The solemnity of a club installation, the rousing spirit of a lively rally, the stimulated curiosity of an ambitious student and the gaiety of social activities proved typical of Lincoln's yearly mood.



Linc Students Show Spirit and Enthusiasm

Who can say of what value four years of high school can be? This invaluable "era," which begins much too slowly and ends much too quickly, indeed illustrates the exuberance yet responsibility of youth.





Lincoln 1962 proved a most exciting and typical year. In student administration, studies, athletic activities, and social events, the Lincoln student presented himself as one who indeed carried forth the virtues of justice, prudence, fortitude and temperance.

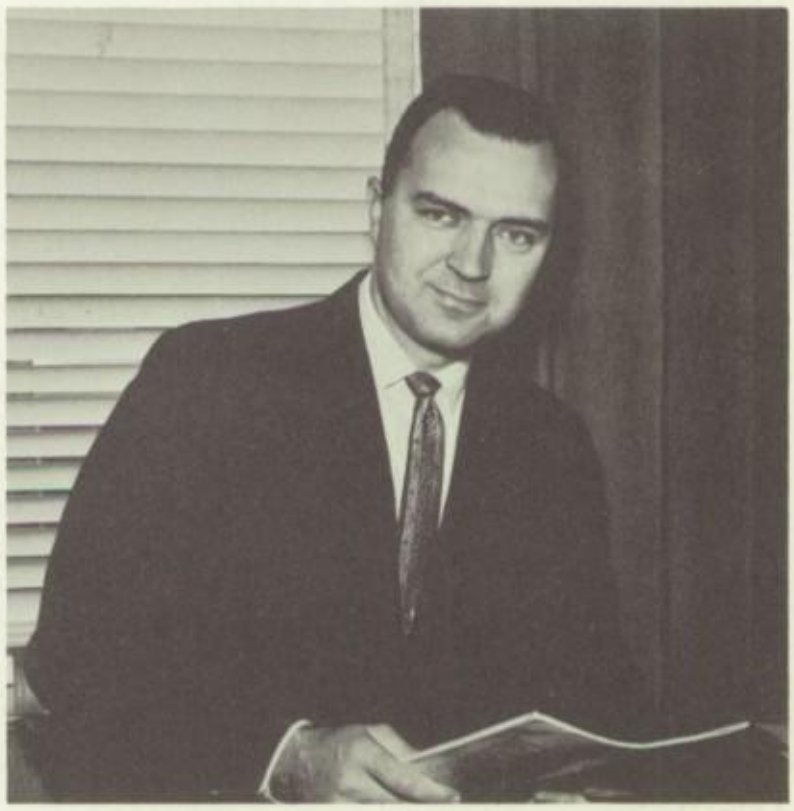
Principal Wills Announces Retirement after 16 Years

Principal Olin Wills swears in President Branson Call.

In announcing his retirement, Mr. Olin Wills completed sixteen successful years as principal of Lincoln High. During this time he has been able to watch the successful progress of many classes through their four years at Lincoln.

Principal Wills attended and received a master of art's degree from Reed College. He began his teaching career at Jefferson where his main interest was mathematics. Soon afterwards he took over a teaching job at Lincoln and from 1924-1944 instructed students in mathematics, mechanical drawing and physics. During this period he served as department chairman for physics. After occupying the office of vice-principal at Franklin High from 1944-1946, Mr. Wills returned to Lincoln to serve as the school's principal.

Mrs. Mildred Bassett, vice-principal in charge of girls' counseling and guidance and the school finance, has completed her fifteenth year at Lincoln as such. A graduate of the University of Oregon and Columbia University, she has received a B. A. and M. A. degree in English literature and counseling and guidance respectively.



Busy with the duty of Lincoln boys' advisor and in charge of all Lincoln activities, Mr. Donald De Lay completed his fourth year on the administrative staff. Mr. De Lay earned his B. S. degree in biology and his M. A. degree in secondary education.

Vice-Principals Continue Excellent Administration

Mr. Edwin Schneider, graduate of Yankton College and Reed College, finished his second year as supervisory vice-principal at Lincoln. His various duties include supervision of teachers and evaluation of scholastic instructional programs.

English Department Boasts Successful Pilot Classes

The importance of intelligent and effective expression of ideas makes it evident why English is required for four years at Lincoln. Beginning with the freshman year, the student learns the basic fundamentals of English grammar. In the second year he is introduced to various types of literature and he becomes acquainted with various styles and techniques. In the junior year, the English course is based upon American literature; in the senior year, an emphasis is put on the study of English literature.

At Lincoln, there are many opportunities opened to the student in the way of English courses. A new program, initiated with pilot classes, has brought the study of Shakespeare at each class level. Students are also able to write creatively by participating in publications classes which turn out the school yearbook and newspaper. To help students increase their vocabulary and reading skill, an effective reading course is offered for one semester. Through all these, the student is given a chance to develop his literary abilities and create productively.

Speaking Skills Emphasized in Foreign Language

Lincoln continued its advancement in the field of foreign language by offering its students the newest techniques in foreign language study. Beginning their freshman year, students have a chance to learn basic relationships of Latin and English and continue study in French, Spanish, and German. First and second year involves the study of grammar and cultural importance. Third and fourth year, offered in all but Latin, emphasize reading, listening, and speaking, and acquaint students with well-known foreign literature.

Social Studies Classes Stress Concepts of History

An increased emphasis on structures and concepts of historical development was the goal of the social science classes. Conforming to the newest progress in curriculum, Lincoln introduced a new pilot class of American history for qualified sophomores. Also continued for the second year was the Western Civilization course open to seniors. Other courses, required of Lincoln students for graduation, were continued. In freshman social studies, the student is introduced to basic development of world civilization centering around Asia and Africa. In the junior year, students study the history and development of the United States. In the senior year, students study the modern problems of their country.

New Approaches Introduced in Science Department

Offering excellent material by well-trained instructors, the science department continued the advancement of modern study programs. Open to interested students, classes in general science, physical science and biology helped Lincoln scholars understand more about our scientific world. More advanced students were eligible to continue scientific studies through chemistry and physics classes.

The science department continued the advancement of new programs by a full-scale schedule of the newest scientific approaches. In chemistry, the Chemical Bond Approach was studied in all classes. In physics, the new PSSC physics program, concerned with a discovery approach, was initiated.

Understanding Proves Important in Math

Lincoln's mathematics department made outstanding progress in its field. Besides general mathematics and beginning algebra, talented freshmen students were found in intermediate and enriched algebra courses. Open to those with math and science interests were geometry and senior math. To those who needed review in basic math and algebra, the refresher and consumer math courses were available. An advanced course in calculus was opened to qualified seniors.

New to the enriched math classes were the national School Math Study Group programs initiated in both algebra and geometry. The courses emphasized theory and understanding rather than concentration on basic skills.

Fine Arts Students Utilize Music-Art Appreciation Course

Lincoln students were offered the best opportunities for creative expression and contribution in the field of fine arts. In the field of music, students were able to develop talent both vocally in the choir or glee, or instrumentally through membership in the Lincoln band and orchestra. In the field of art, students were able to express themselves in many different media while, at the same time, studying technique and style. The drama department continued to produce successful plays as it trained students in speech and acting ability. Also helping students in speaking ability and poise were the speech classes.

New to the fine arts program was the new music and art understanding course which offered one semester of the theory of art and one semester of the theory of music to interested students.

PE Department Continues Health and Safety Program

Lincoln continued its compulsory PE courses and freshmen and sophomores were readily found in the gym, or, weather permitting, out on the field. Participating in various sports including football, soccer, basketball, badminton, tumbling, track, and softball, underclass athletes were expected to improve skill and ability. During the sophomore year, class PE courses included the study of health and hygiene and the importance of first aid and safety precautions in various situations. A unit on driving safety gave sophomores information on the basic fundamentals of the car and how it runs and also the importance of useful attitudes and skills in driving.

Economic, Industrial Arts Provide for Future Careers

Lincoln has been very successful in promoting courses which will aid the student in future careers. Through business education classes, students are taught the skills of typing, shorthand, bookkeeping and business machine operation, and are instructed in business law so that they may be aware of various aspects of economics and business systems. In Home economics, girls acquire knowledge of various areas related to the home including home and child care, finance, and personal development. The Industrial arts program offers boys a chance to acquire skills in woodworking, metal work and architecture. These background courses help the student choose a vocation that is of his interest and at which he will have a chance to succeed.

Lincoln Boasts Well Organized Office System

Lincoln boasted a well-organized and efficient office, the staff handling all of the school's paper work. Parents Work Through Dads' Club, PTA

Mr. John Kendall

The Lincoln High Dads' Club was highly active in issues concerning their children at Lincoln. Fathers actively participated in the discussion of important issues involving the school and aided in the establishment of scholarships by sponsoring the fifteenth annual Popcycles, "Look at the State We're In - Alaska." Other social events in which they participated were the Dad and Daughter Banquet and the Sports' Award dessert.

The Lincoln PTA began its busy year with discussion groups concerning each individual class. Parents and school administrative officers talked both formally and informally about school curriculum and school activities. The traditional "Back to School Night" permitted parents to visit student classes. Climaxing the year was the annual Lincoln rummage sale which proved very successful.

Student Body Cabinet Encourages Spirit

Continuing the promotion of school spirit and representation of students, Lincoln's fall student body cabinet accomplished many new tasks which were set before it. At the beginning of the year the cabinet gladly aided incoming freshmen. Following this, they worked on two big projects: the construction of a Cardinal head to be placed in the gym and the installation of bronze plaques in the courtyard which named previous Rose Festival queens from Lincoln. With the National Honor Society, the cabinet promoted the idea of a morning study hall to lessen the commotion in the library. Their largest project was the sponsorship of the Region III Leadership Conference which hosted student body officers from all over Oregon. Working in conjunction with officials, the cabinet first sponsored Lincoln's own workshop for student leaders, then prepared to play host for the larger conference.

Rodgers Leads Seniors Through Last Year

This year's Senior Class was led by an enthusiastic cabinet of Girls' Representatives Mary Caldwell and Laurie Stewart, Boys' Representative Dave Coughlin, Historian Larry Frager, Treasurer John Robison, Secretary Pat Riley, Vice-President Jane McKinley and President Lonny Rodgers. The first task of the cabinet was the welcoming of the new members to the senior class by having a banquet for them. The cabinet then selected seniors for Senior Class Day, Banquet, and Picnic committees. The Senior Drama Department put on a suspense-packed play, "Mousetrap." After four long years of trying to win the Popcycles kickoff assembly, the class was finally victorious. Nothing topped the year's final activities more than senior commencement.

The Junior Class Cabinet made significant progress in organizing activities by their class. Led by president Don McKinley and advised by Mr. Robert Palmer and Miss Frances Elmer, they met regularly to plan ways of raising money for future spring events. Time was spent in wisely selecting members of the class to serve on committees. Student Council Representatives were selected. Groups were organized to insure the success of the Jr. Class Play and to make arrangements for the Junior-Senior Prom. Good leadership and hard work made all projects of the Class of 1963 successful.

Sophomores Rank High in Classes and Sports

Shortly after school began, the sophomores were hosts for the annual after-school Soph-Frosh party, which featured a talent how followed by refreshments. Their next projects, two cookie sales, were financially successful. In April they sponsored a "Sadie Hawkins" dance for freshmen and sophomores.

Besides excelling academically, the sophomores did well athletically with leading football and wrestling teams, as well as having many members on the varsity swimming, tennis, golf, and track teams.

Spring Cabinet Begins New Activities

Under the enthusiastic guidance of Branson Call, Lincoln's spring student body cabinet initiated many new activities. The establishment of a Boys' Association, comparable to Girls' League, met with the overwhelming approval of the student body. Other new activities were the encouragement of intramural sports, including ping pong and track, and the formation of more interest clubs within Lincoln. The re-establishment of a J. V. rally squad and the addition of study benches in the halls were other cabinet projects. Carrying through traditionally, the cabinet also sponsored a highly successful Lincoln Day and the fifteenth annual Popcycles.

Fall Rally Brightens Damp Spirits

Lively rally wrings spirit out of wet crowd.

Lincoln's Fall Rally busied themselves both before and during the 1961 football season, proving to be a peppy and inspirational squad.

Early in the summer, rally members designed their original sailor outfits and spent many long hours practicing routines. The squad began its duties in the fall by helping with the Buckaroo Breakfast and then leading a parade to Lincoln's first game at Wilson. Other activities in which they participated were pre-game dinners with opposing rallies, the all-city rally dinner, organization of the Peppers, and television shows on which they encouraged interest in PIL sports activities.

Cards Place Three Men on All-City Squad

Mr. Bob Signer

Mr. Larry Keck

The Lincoln High Cardinals, led by head coach Bob Signer and assistant coach Larry Keck, ended the hard, short-scheduled 1961 PIL season with a four won, four lost record. Despite bad breaks which kept the team at an even .500 average throughout the season, the rough and ready gridders showed definite strength and proved their ability by placing three men in All City first team positions.

Senior end Jim Tippet, chosen the Cardinal's 1961 most valuable player, took a spot on both the offensive and defensive squads. Senior Dave Coughlin was chosen for first team defensive squad and teammate John Tatum filled in center spot.

Other Lincoln players who took honors with honorable mentions were senior tackle Jim Strickland, senior guard Bob Peets, junior back Bob Flowerree, and senior end Branson Call.

Wilson 14, Lincoln 7

The Lincoln Cardinals, in their traditional grid opener with the Wilson Trojans, were toppled 14-7 in a hard hitting contest on the Wilson field. The lone Cardinal touchdown was scored by Branson Call with Dexter Fairbank grabbing the extra point pass from quarterback Larry Frager. The Trojans, however, sneaked by with a touchdown and extra point in the final quarter to win the game.

Madison 13, Lincoln 12

The Madison Senators met with stiff competition but still edged the Cardinals 13-12 in a close encounter at Lincoln. Seniors Larry Frager and Jim Tippet tallied up Lincoln's points, but the Senators, after grabbing an early lead, met the Cards with a tight defense in the second half to retain the win.

Roosevelt 13, Lincoln 27

The Cards turned in their first win against the Roosevelt Roughriders, downing them 27-13 on a soggy Teddy turf. Outstanding performances were turned in by backs Bob Flowerree and Mike Davis who outrode the Teddy defense and piled up 27 points for the Lincoln cause.

Cleveland 7, Lincoln 50

The Cleveland Indians went down in defeat as the Lincoln gridders scalped them 50-7 in home territory. The contest was studded with many outstanding plays starting with an 85 yard gallop by Scott Cress on the first kickoff for the initial Lincoln touchdown. Following came an outbreak of successful Lincoln scoring attempts, and the weary warriors went down in defeat at the hands of a mighty Cardinal team.

Grant 14, Lincoln 0

The Cards were handed their third defeat and held scoreless for the first time as they fell to the Grant Generals 14-0. Outstanding effort was put forth by the Lincoln aerialists who completed seven out of eleven passes and totaled seventeen first downs. The gain, however, went for nothing as the Generals held a tight defense and prevented any Lincoln scoring.

Mud, Rain Typify Football Season

Jefferson 25, Lincoln 0

Jefferson stole the show in a Lincoln football drama which saw the Demos drub the unlucky Cards 25-0. The game, played on a muddy Lincoln field, was dominated by Jeff players who sent the ball through the air rather than try to navigate the lake-like gridiron.

Washington 13, Lincoln 14

After two scoreless defeats, the Lincoln Cardinals squeezed by the Washington Colonials to gain their third PIL win. The two teams battled on the rain-soaked field in a seven-seven deadlock until junior back Bob Walsh added six points with a 38 yard romp and caught a pass for the game winning extra point.

Franklin 6, Lincoln 7

Lincoln ended the PIL season and evened their won-lost record with a 7-6 success over Franklin on the Quaker gridiron. A crowd, which watched with excitement in the cold yet typical football weather, saw both teams fight on equal grounds for the victory. Senior star Larry Frager ran for the touchdown and extra point which enabled the Cards to close off the season in a sixth place position.

JV Squad Proves to be Top Contender in PIL

Mr. Bob Brown
Coach

Lincoln's JV squad had an outstanding season with a four win, two loss record. They triumphantly downed their first four opponents, the only team to hold scoreless and defeat the Wilson Trojans. Outstanding linemen were tackles Tim Mitchell and Dave Glover, ends Tod Hamachek and Avery Schwartz and center Jim Davis. The outstanding backs were halfbacks Rick White and John Schwabe and quarterback Dee Wolfe. Rick White's outstanding contributions were missed in the Grant and Jeff games because of injuries.

Lincoln's Freshman football team finished their 1961 PIL season with a two won, two loss, one tie record. Frosh gridders exhibited good "team play" which promises good things to come in the future for Lincoln football. Typical of this was the Lincoln-Jefferson game which brought defeat to the Demos for only the second time in five years.

Outstanding freshmen on the offense were Chuck Wilson, Mitch Boyce, Larry Yamano, and Dick Mayeda. Defensively, the stars were Larry Fowler, Frank Franzone, Due Johns, John Billington, and Wayne Hachiya.

Varsity Harriers Finish Third in City

Lincoln varsity cross country started the season with high hopes and seven lettermen from last fall's strong and developing squad including outstanding middle distance men from spring track, co-captains Lonny Rodgers and Bill McGarr, sophomore Bobby Lamoreaux, and last fall's JV city champ Arnie Schwanz. Despite illness, injury and subsequent drop-outs which dashed hopes for top honors, the boys tried valiantly and finished strong in a third place position.

In the city meet, harriers McGarr, Rodgers and Lamoreaux finished third, fifth and eighth respectively, finishing strong behind Wilson and Grant.

Frosh Runners Show Potential

The largest group of runners in Lincoln's history turned out for the 1961 freshman squad. The result was victory in two of four trianle PIL meets and a second place, runner-up position to the Grant harriers. Star freshmen who ultimately made their first varsity stripes were Eric Lewis and Gary Taft, while a host of others made the future look bright for spring track and next year's cross country.

Led by girls' P. E. instructor, Mrs. Maryanne Parker, Lincoln's girls' swim team placed third in the city league and took a third place in state relay competition. Eight forceful contests brought six rousing wins and two near victories as the team, sparked by the performances of freshman Ann Brown and sophomore Laura Stockwell and the returnees from last year's 1960 squad, made the 1961 PIL swim season a successful one for Lincoln.

Varsity Squad Boasts State Champ

Lincoln High varsity wrestling had a fair season producing one state champion, Rick Sanders. Having a 3-7 season, the Lincoln squad had many exciting matches. Many competitions were lost by only a few points. Despite hardships, however, many fine individual wrestlers were produced.

Individual stars included city champs Rick Sanders and Al Stebinger. Sanders, last year's 98-pound state champion, retained his title in the 106-pound division. After a hard won city championship round, Rick traveled to OSU for the state finals and to victory. Junior Al Stebinger was Rick's only partner at the Corvallis matches.

Lincoln's JV wrestling team took on a new name, the "Buzzard Squad." Under the guidance of coach Larry Keck, the Buzzards were trained in the various skills of wrestling. The third team, a subdivision of JV wrestling, did not compete in PIL wrestling matches, but did give less experienced wrestlers a greater chance to participate and to benefit by working as a team.

Frosh Grapplers Wrestle to Success

Lincoln boasted a fine freshman wrestling squad during the 1961-62 season. Under the guidance of Coach Charles Withee, the large turnout of boys learned the various techniques of the sport. Displaying top form and a winning spirit, the frosh squad pinned many opponents and finished out the season with an even won-lost record. There was optimism for future Lincoln wrestling as the first year group gained experience and prepared to continue in this sporting event during their future years at Lincoln.

JV Train for Varsity Squad

Under the guidance of coach Bob Brown, the JV basketball squad won a total of seven games and lost thirteen. Largest victories came against Franklin and Marshall while most defeats were near wins. Although the team experienced some evident hardluck, the team gained valuable preparation for next year's varsity squad. Displaying much skill and improvement through the season, Lincoln basketball fans have reason to be hopeful next season.

Frosh Learn Basketball Techniques

Mr. Charles Johnson
Coach

Mr. Charles Johnson assumed duties as the freshman basketball coach and led a large turnout of boys through practice and a hard but valuable season. Main duties of Coach Johnson was to teach inexperienced freshmen the techniques of basketball which they would need in future years. Fourteen boys completed a successful freshman season and promise a good performance as JVs during the 1963 season.

Track Stars Third in City Relays

Lincoln and Grant spikers begin long run.

The varsity track squad completed a highly successful season taking a third place in the city relays. The team was described as particularly well balanced and strong by Mr. Chet Rooklidge who credited Mr. Tony Lindstrom for the excellent training of long distance runners who had previously been cross country harriers. Outstanding seniors who contributed to the success of the squad were seniors Jim Tippet, Bill McGarr, Lonny Rodgers, Mike Davis and Lee Schwartz who took a first place in state in the discus event. Other high point men were Dexter Fairbank, Tom Kommers and Bob Flowerree. One of the season's most exciting meets was a near victory over the strong Jefferson Democrats.

JVs Hindered by Small Squad

The JV track team, handicapped by the inexperience of squad members still fared fairly well in their season attempt for victory. The underclassmen, many of whom were promoted to the varsity squad early in the season, had a strong season and showed potential for next year's squad. Outstanding athletes were Steve Chen in the high jump, Avery Schwartz in the pole vault and Steve Widmer in the 100 and 200-yard dash.

Freshmen Produce Strong Team

The frosh thinclads turned out in full force and came through with a well balanced and skilled team. Individual star's which should be next year's underclass varsity material were Eric Lewis in the mile, Jock Nelson in the 440, Dan Campanian in the 220 and Jim Moss in the low hurdles.

Girls', Boys' Golf Teams Boast Returning Lettermen

Under the leadership of a new coach, Mrs. Gail Price, the girls' golf team showed great potential. Not only did the team have many veterans, but the squad consisted mainly of underclassmen, which promises a fine season next year. Among the returning letter-winners were: Madge Tatum, Jill Belford, Michele Raske, Mary Emerson and Anne Finkbeiner.

The boys' golf team produced many fine golfers this season. Being complimented with fine returning lettermen, the squad entered its season in high spirits. George Heilig, Bill Morrison, John Tongue, Mike Sugg, Marc Alport, Bob Lacy and Dick White were among the team's stalwarts.

Tennis Squads Have Winning Season

Lincoln's girls' tennis team started the season off with a string of four wins. Contributing much to the team's successful year were these tennis standouts: Ann Haney, Darcy Turner, Molly MacDonald and Pat Mead.

Coached by Mr. John Cover, the boys' tennis team accomplished much this year. Besides having a very strong team, they also acquired new team uniforms. Included in the squad's outstanding members were: Jim Dezendorf, John Hutchison, Bill Rosenfeld, Ted Piper, Macy Wall and Rod MacMillan.

Varsity Baseball Stars Shine on Field

The varsity baseball squad was plagued with the problem of lack of experience being comprised of only three seniors, five sophomores and a freshman. The Cards showed outstanding fielding skills and their pitching improved from what it had been at the beginning of the season. Coach Robert Signer, in his first year as varsity baseball coach since the departure of Mr. Jim Partlow, agreed that the success of the team would depend on how well the inexperienced pitchers would fare in the PIL games.

Biggest win for the Cards, a 4-0 victory over the Madison club, stood out on the record as the Senators at that time led the league and had the best record at the halfway mark. Outstanding pitchers were Scott Cress and Pat Donnelly while Card batters were led by seniors Pat Donnelly, Larry Frager and Rick Brill.

JV Squad Shows Potential

Lack of experience also proved a problem with the junior varsity squad. Led by Coach Joseph Rife, the underclass team members spent much of the season gaining experience in hitting and fielding while inexperienced pitchers were taught poise and various techniques which would aid them in future baseball seasons.

The JV squad displayed good ability and sportsmanship in their games having in mid season a two won, three lost record. The potential they held, however, makes things look optimistic for next year's varsity squad.

Newspaper Staff Meets Deadline to Produce Paper

The Cardinal newspaper staff began the year understaffed with only three members having writing and editorial duties, one advertising manager and one photographer. Under Ginny Sherk, fall editor, the group strived to produce a high quality paper on a bi-weekly schedule. A new printer, Durham and Downey, brought an improvement with a new look. Tom Nash and Jim Robison joined as writer and photographer, respectively.

In the spring, Fred Hellb erg, spring editor, led the staff which had been supplemented by eager first year journalism students. "Call Calling," the student body presidential column, was initiated and a great increase in advertising helped keep the paper financially solvent. Throughout the year, Mrs. Pat Edgar encouraged and advised the staff.

"Cardinal" Staff Works Hard in Yearbook Production

One glance into rooms 218 and 210 would prove to anyone the yearbook staff is an active group of workers. Under the advisorship of newcomer Mrs. Pat Edgar and the co-editorship of Chloe Bergreen and Margaret Bree, the staff of twenty students worked hard to make its deadline and put out an informative and entertaining yearbook. After many difficulties, the staff was finally well under way in production, many times staying late after school and working on Saturday to complete various tasks.

Musicians Prove Melodious Under New Instructor

The Lincoln instrumental department was under the leadership of Mr. Ralph Salyard, who immediately began a recruiting process to enlarge both the orchestra and the band. The results were favorable. The band met each day during the first period to practice for major events and during the fall, the music of the group echoed over the campus as they practiced marching and playing on the football field. Lincoln students and parents were then entertained by the fine marching and music skills as the band performed both en masse at football games and as a pep or dance band at assemblies and dances.

The Lincoln orchestra was also enlarged over last year and spent most of its time preparing for various concerts which were given during holiday seasons. Handicapped by the lack of experienced players, Mr. Salyard instructed enough students to give a very enjoyable Christmas and spring concert. The band and orchestra also participated in the all-city music festival, playing in unison with other Portland groups.

Vocalists Star in Concerts, Popcycles

Boys' ensemble serenades audience with "Moon River" at the Popcycles.

Melodius strains were typical of what was heard third period through the halls of Lincoln as Mr. Bell led the senior choir in practices for various concerts given during the year. A large group, the choir, with voices from the sophomore, junior and senior classes, prepared for traditional performances and were enjoyed immensely by the student body who heard them first in the annual Christmas concert. Later, during the last period of the day, the members caroled through the halls with the sound of Christmas music. The choir then prepared for and gave a spring program which had for its theme the music from the Broadway musical "Sound of Music."

The music department was also proud to present the talented boys ensemble which performed during the Christmas concert and starred in the Popcycles. Other singing groups were the girls' and boys' glees which consisted mainly of underclassmen who wished to prepare for a position in the senior choir later.

ICC Initiates Club Evaluation System

Lincoln's ICC, whose members are the presidents of Lincoln's 17 social-service and interest clubs, accomplished much in the organization and regulation of the club system. During the fall, club service was encouraged. In the spring, the council's main activity was the creation of a new club evaluation system. Traditionally, the ICC led all girls' clubs in the sponsorship of the annual Mardi-Gras.

Philo Works in Linc Library

Louise,
Well now that you are a "Big Sophomore" you are really apart of Lincoln. I hope that you grow to love Lincoln as much as I do, because it is a wonderful school and you will get as much out of it as you are willing to put into it.
Good Luck always, Helene

Continuing its traditional service, Philo worked to promote literary interest at Lincoln. In conjunction with this aim, Philo members worked mornings in the library and sponsored the annual literary contest. Outside work included working at the Neighborhood House with the blind. Social activities included various joints and friendships and a alumnae party with last year's senior members.

Its purpose was to organize a large group of girls to form a pep club to support the various sports at Lincoln. Seniors Have Large Representation in NHS

Thirty-five seniors were selected as members of this year's Lincoln chapter of the National Honor Society. The organization, which recognizes the scholarship, leadership, service and character of outstanding seniors, was chosen early in the year. An installation ceremony featured introductions by Principal Olin Wills, Vice-Principal Mildred Bassett, President Truman Sasaki, and presented as guest speaker Dr. Fred Stocking, an exchange teacher at Portland State from Williams College.

Among the various activities which the club promoted were participation in the honor study hall plan, sponsorship of a morning study hall and attendance at the city-wide NHS Banquet in late April.

Ability and sportsmamship were keynotes which made Lincoln teams outstanding despite the fact that they failed to capture any first place position. Lincoln fared only average in most sports but likewise placed many boys on all-city teams with others receiving honorable mentions. In football three seniors received first team honors. In wrestling, Rick Sanders copped a state championship in his weight division. Likewise freshman Ann Brown broke many city records as a member of the girls' swim team.

"Mousetrap" Proves Suspense-Filled Success

Keith Morden comforts Katy White during tense moment in "Mousetrap."

Mystery and suspense were keynotes of the senior class presentation of Agatha Christie's "Mousetrap." The play, starring John Tatum and Katy White, centered around romance and murder in an English guest house. The characters were paying guests, who by the end of the play, wished they had never come to Monkswell Manor at all. The mystery of who was the murderer carried through until the very end of the play and the story proved very popular with those who watched either of the two performances.

Outstanding characteristics of the play were that it was the most expensive Lincoln has produced and that it required special lighting, sound effects and set design. The cast of eight was one of the smallest that has ever been used in a Lincoln play. "Mousetrap" was the fifty-eighth play produced by drama teacher Mr. John Lehman.

"Pioneer Go Home" Makes Big Hit

A play in which the characters were cast perfectly was the junior class presentation of "Pioneer Go Home." The realistic portrayal of each fictional person was humorous and entertaining to large audiences which attended the show's three performances.

The plot of the story centered around an "oddball" family, the Kwimpers, who were continually trying to establish a home for themselves despite the opposition of gangsters and federal agents. The struggles which ensued provided some highly amusing and unusual situations. Mark Groening as Toby Kwimper played the shy, simple but brave hero of the play who seemed to have his hands full with his home problems and Alicia Claypoole played by Janie Knowlton.

"Pioneer Go Home," Mr. Lehman's 60th production effort was the most successful and popular of the year, and the stars, supported by a large cast, gave an excellent performance and illustrated talent which will be useful in next year's production.

Hidden Lincoln Talent Uncovered in Drama Productions

Much hidden talent was uncovered as Mr. John Lehman coached and directed his drama department students in various class and department productions. Besides the major plays put on by the two upper classes, other drama students got experience by acting in various assemblies and non-school performances. Inter-class competition was begun early in the year, the best productions winning prizes and the students having an opportunity to show what they had written in the Popcycles. Other acts were presented as parts of various entertaining assemblies such as the Junior Red Cross Assembly. Mr. Lehman's classes were also privileged to present a special play for the Post Office Department dealing with the problems a postal clerk faces during a routine day.

Also on the assembly agenda, Lincoln students were welcomed to traditional assemblies such as cabinet assemblies, Girls' and Boys' League assemblies, the Jr. Red Cross Assembly, and the Lincoln Day Assembly. As special entertainment, the students were treated to visiting professional entertainers including folksingers, jugglers, and traffic safety experts.

Queen Terrie Becomes

"Her Majesty" of Mardi Gras

Dim lights and soft music set the mood for the annual Mardi Gras sponsored by Lincoln's girls' social service clubs. The court was chosen by the boys' clubs and were presented to the student body in a special assembly. At the dance those who attended voted for their favorite. The dance, portraying a San Francisco theme, was attended by a large number of couples who danced to the recorded music of Ray Coniff and Montovani. Near the hour of ten, Princess Terrie Cress was crowned Mardi Gras Queen and, escorted by Jeff Claridge, led the queen's dance with her court Helen Goodman, Linda Johnson, Lynda Patton, Barrie Hallinan and Sylvia Gullekson.

Beauty Reigns over May Fete Assembly

Beautiful Lynda Patton is crowned May Fete Queen by Principal Olin Wills.

Prime Minister Clark Bunton opens May Fete festivities with the reading of the queen's proclamation.

"You have a beautiful May Queen" were the first words spoken by Princess Katy White, and the statement proved very true with the presentation of Queen Lynda Patton in Lincoln's annual May Fete Assembly. The queen, preceded by her court - Helen Goodman escorted by Jim Tippet, Janet Goss escorted by John Robison, Sylvia Gullekson escorted by John Kendall, Jonnie Harding escorted by Keith Morden, Nancy Hayes escorted by Branson Call and Linda Johnson escorted by Kent Houser - was escorted by Dexter Fairbank and presided over the assembly, knighting selected students and teachers for their service. Entertainment for the court was provided by the Boys' Ensemble, the "Deltas," the English Harbor Four and Julie Levin.

"May Pole Twist" Ends May Fete Festivities

Queen Lynda Patton and escort Dexter Fairbank lead off special dance for the queen and her court.

The Girls' League sponsored "May Pole Twist" climaxed a week of Lincoln Rose Festival activities and honored May Fete Queen Lynda Patton and her court. The dance, an annual girl-ask-boy affair, was held in the Lincoln Cafeteria, decorated in pink for the occasion. Halfway through the dance each princess was escorted out and introduced to the crowd. Soon after was a special dance for the queen and court members. Music was provided by stereo records.

Students Select Candidate for Rosaria

1961 Princess Toni Turner presents Princess Katy with traditional corsage.

Shock and surprise come to Katy White an instant after she is announced Lincoln's 1962 Rose Festival Princess.

The final climax to a week of tension and anticipation arrived on Friday, May 18. The place was the faculty dining room where eight lovely seniors waited for the moment when one of them would be announced as a Rose Festival Princess. It was Miss Ambler, senior counselor, who presented to the selection committee and the press Katy White, Lincoln's candidate for queen of Rosaria. Amid the squeals of congratulations by court members, blond, green-eyed Katy flashed a radiant smile of happiness and thanks. Soon after, she was escorted to the gymnasium where an excited student body greeted her with a standing ovation. The high point of the presentation ceremony was the pinning of a corsage by Lincoln's 1961 Princess Toni Turner who wished her luck and happiness in the upcoming events of the Rosaria Festivities.

Keith Morden and Jim Tippet hold curtains open as Princess Katy White is introduced to the student body.
